Updates from Anjulie + Dr. Josyula sjosyula@uw.edu anjulie@uw.edu	Dr. Josyula: We're getting ready to build our undergraduate public health service-learning course syllabus that is dedicated to a UDSM desired project. We want to ensure that we're not missing any potential topics or projects that may be relevant for the students. This is for the course that Sri and I are teaching in the Public Health Global Health Major. This is a 2-quarter course where students meet 3x per week to do a service -earning project for public health org/group. Last year we did foot care and created quarter sheets. We can do a similar project on a different health topic. For the second quarter, we might do something more administrative/report writing like-- we can share more later. Do you have recommendations for topics our students should pursue? Is there any area in your work with UDSM that you feel would be nice to have more information on?

St. Vincent's emab2@uw.edu	Ema: Our last outreach at St. Vincent was great. Had two people in a row ask about incontinence briefs or pads, so Nandini was able to order those like a rockstar and we should have those available at our next one. Great continuity, great to see familiar faces. Next outreach on the 9th.

I reached out to Sam from the UD food bank to see if we could set up a sort of Q and A outreach for patrons at the food bank. They responded to my email, and we were supposed to set up a meeting sometime this week, so hopefully soon we'll be able to talk with someone from the food bank over zoom or in person about what a collaboration would look like!
